PRIME UNVEILS NEXT GEN TRADING SOLUTIONS

August 25, 2014 (Wayne, PA) – Prime Technology Group, LLC a global software engineering firm offering a wide range of consulting and software development services, today unveiled the next generation Trading Solutions from its Banking and Financial stables.

As of part its domain expertise in providing Capital Markets trading tools, the company's quick-to-launch trading solutions are specifically designed to provide maximum performance. From trade execution to performance management, its collective trading tool called as StocInn serves live/historical financial data, real-time data for trade equities, trade indices, financial analytics, corporate action, and visualizations with low latency using web sockets.

StocInn is one product in a series of cutting-edge capabilities across the full trading platform including assets such as StocManager, StocBeacon, StocBulletin, StocCharts,.

According to a company spokesperson, StocInn serves as a capital market solution product, which blends transformable technological tools that represent capital market data, intuitively and interactively. With StocInn, you can Select, Customize, Integration and Own your product and get real-time data from NASDAG Level 2, NYMEX, COMEX, Futures Data (Real-Time or Delayed), OTC Markets Level 1 and 2, etc. Prime's intuitive tools exclusively focusing on "Trading" and "Analytics" have found acceptance and are increasingly being adopted by various trading solution experts from the banking and financial institutions.

Sudhakar Goverdhanam, Chief Executive Officer of Prime Technology Group, LLC, commented:

"We decided we pull out all stops and do something apart from our usual client projects. We did a comprehensive research and analysis of various trading products, latest technologies and have come up with financial analytics software that stands out from the crowd. In fact, the zeal of exploring new technologies and the challenge of creating something distinctive gave us the punch that we needed to make this happen.We at Prime wanted to create a data mining center to ensure that customers have access to various statistics based on live/historical financial data via reports, charts, etc., which can help them while tackling the financial market.".
